"Our three year partnership with Turner Construction has given the CADD classes an opportunity to see first hand what Architecture/Engineering & Construction Management careers are really like." Ms. LeFevre

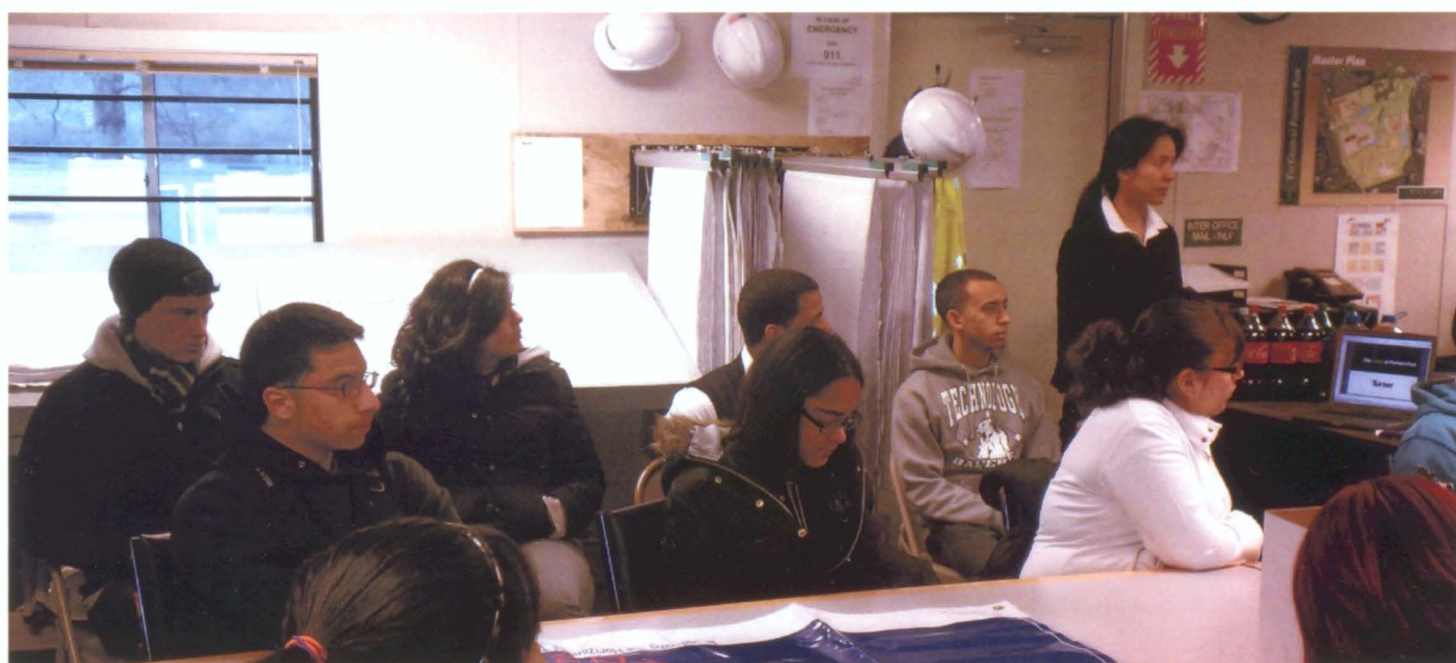

The partnership began in the 2008-09 school year & has just concluded with this year's graduating class of 2011.

Ms. Lefevre's sophomore & senior class takes a group picture with Turner Construction workers.

Ana Leandro, Queen Louallen & Savita Pullay at a field trip.

Seniors Gerardo Valle, Diana Alvarez, Luis Garcia paid close attention through one of Turner's presentations.

This year Ms. Lefevre's classes organized a recycling program, with competitions between home rooms for the most paper, plastic bottles, and bottle tops. Above Juan Ortega, Luis Osorio, Mario Galan, Ms. LaFevre, Diana Alvarez, and Mohamed Permaul show how to separate recyclable materials. Right, Ms. Lefevre dressed for the program during Sprit Week.

Ms. Dahlberg's seniors in her Drawing and Painting classes redesigned the concept for the boards hanging in the breezeway. This was a year-long project in which groups of students competed to have their design chosen. The designs were juried by members of the faculty and by student representatives. Below: Seniors in Drawing and Painting A1/2 are working on the new design. Right: Nelson De Matos in an earlier phase, drawing the illustrations on the boards.

This is the third year Ms. Dahlberg has arranged for THS students set-up tents for the Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure. This year Elizebeth Avalo and Kacheena Lucas set-up the Pink Honor Roll Tent. The picture directly above is the starting line the next day.

Working with the Barat Foundation on a Mural for Peace!

Students at THS were able to take part in a special project in anticipation of the Peace Summit, May 13-15. The finished mural was permanently installed on a wall of Integrity House at Lincoln Park. The wall is visible from Broad St.

Most of the work was done by students in Ms. Dahlberg's B-Day classes. Students above are given a demonstration by Athena Barat, Artist in Residence.

The THS Band played several concerts this year as well as playing for the pep rally and Spirit Week.

This year three of our students were accepted into City Without Walls ArtReach program. They were teamed up with working artists. Our students worked in their studios, producing pieces made with their mentor artists.

They each received a stipend for their travel and supplies. The program ends with a group show at the cWOW Gallery in Newark on June 9, 2011.

Above: Artist Daniel Brophy with freshman, Wesley May; Juan Merchan with artist, Spencer Frohwith. A perk for hanging around with artists is pizza!

Artist, Daniel Brophy, works with Wesley May as they develop the idea for their piece. On the right is a painting by artist, Steven Green and freshman, Cesar Fejoo. The piece is about Steven's early life growing up in Cuba and Cesar's experience as a child in Ecuador.

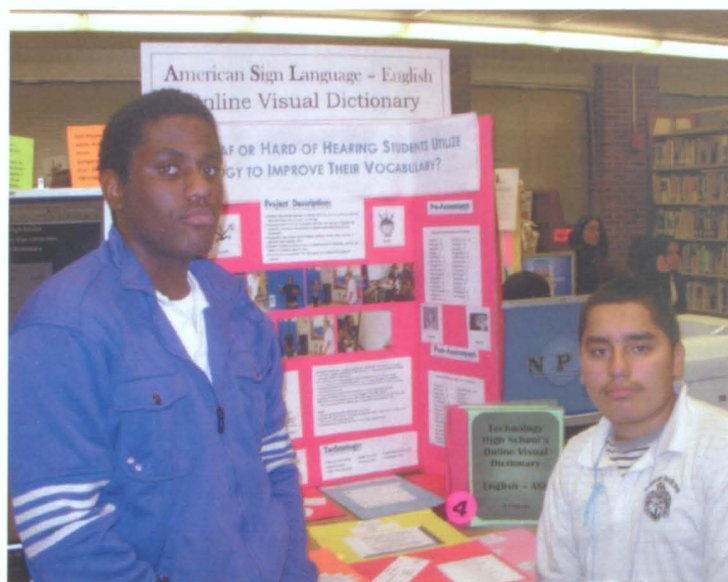

Aferro Gallery, Newark, offered an artist mentoring program for girls called, "Identity Blueprint." Students Katerin Salguero & Nicole Reynoso were accepted into the 10-week program. They worked with cyanotypes, animation, photography, video, wood, & other processes with a different artist each week.

Right: A cyanotype by Nicole Reynoso.

This year's Project Fair featured many cooperative groups. The students clockwise from upper left are: Felish Singh and Jose Luis Balderas manning their World Language project. Dominc Durant and George Valdez were available to show us how their sign-language website worked. Jocelyn Solano and Matheus De Carvalho were set-up in the media center. Ms. Hamrani's project asked: "Why are teams of people used to solve problems?"

Retiring teacher, Mrs Rutledge, was the adviser for the Photography Club. On this page is a small sample of the work done by her students, Danny Rodriguez and Bimbola Oyekanmi.

Many thanks to Vivek Garg at mbrosia for helping me with technical problems as I learned just about everything 'on the job.' Special thanks to whoever invented "Go To Meeting!" Diane and Adalina at Lifetouch deserve kudos for their patience. All the students and staff members who contributed pictures, we couldn't do it without you!

The following students helped put this together:

Tatiana Carrillo
Stephanie Rubianes
Elizebeth Avalo
Nicole Reynoso
Surika Kodare
Kaylee Rios
Monique Neves
Tieny Dal Gobbo

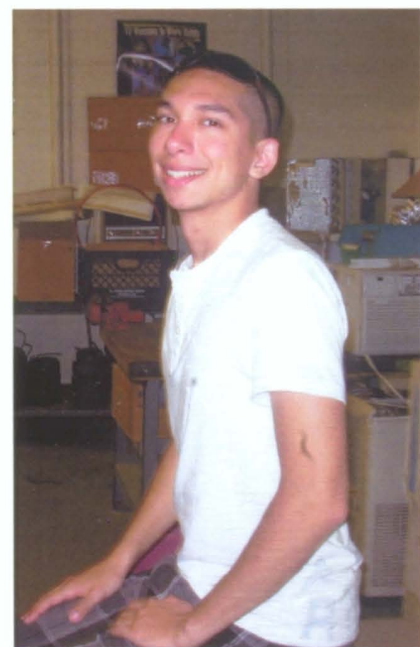

There were a few students who really came through in the end, though: Carlan Edwards, Katherine Tejada, Nelson De Matos, and Ana Leandro. These four continued to bug and annoy people for pictures and information - even though we passed the deadline. (What deadline?)

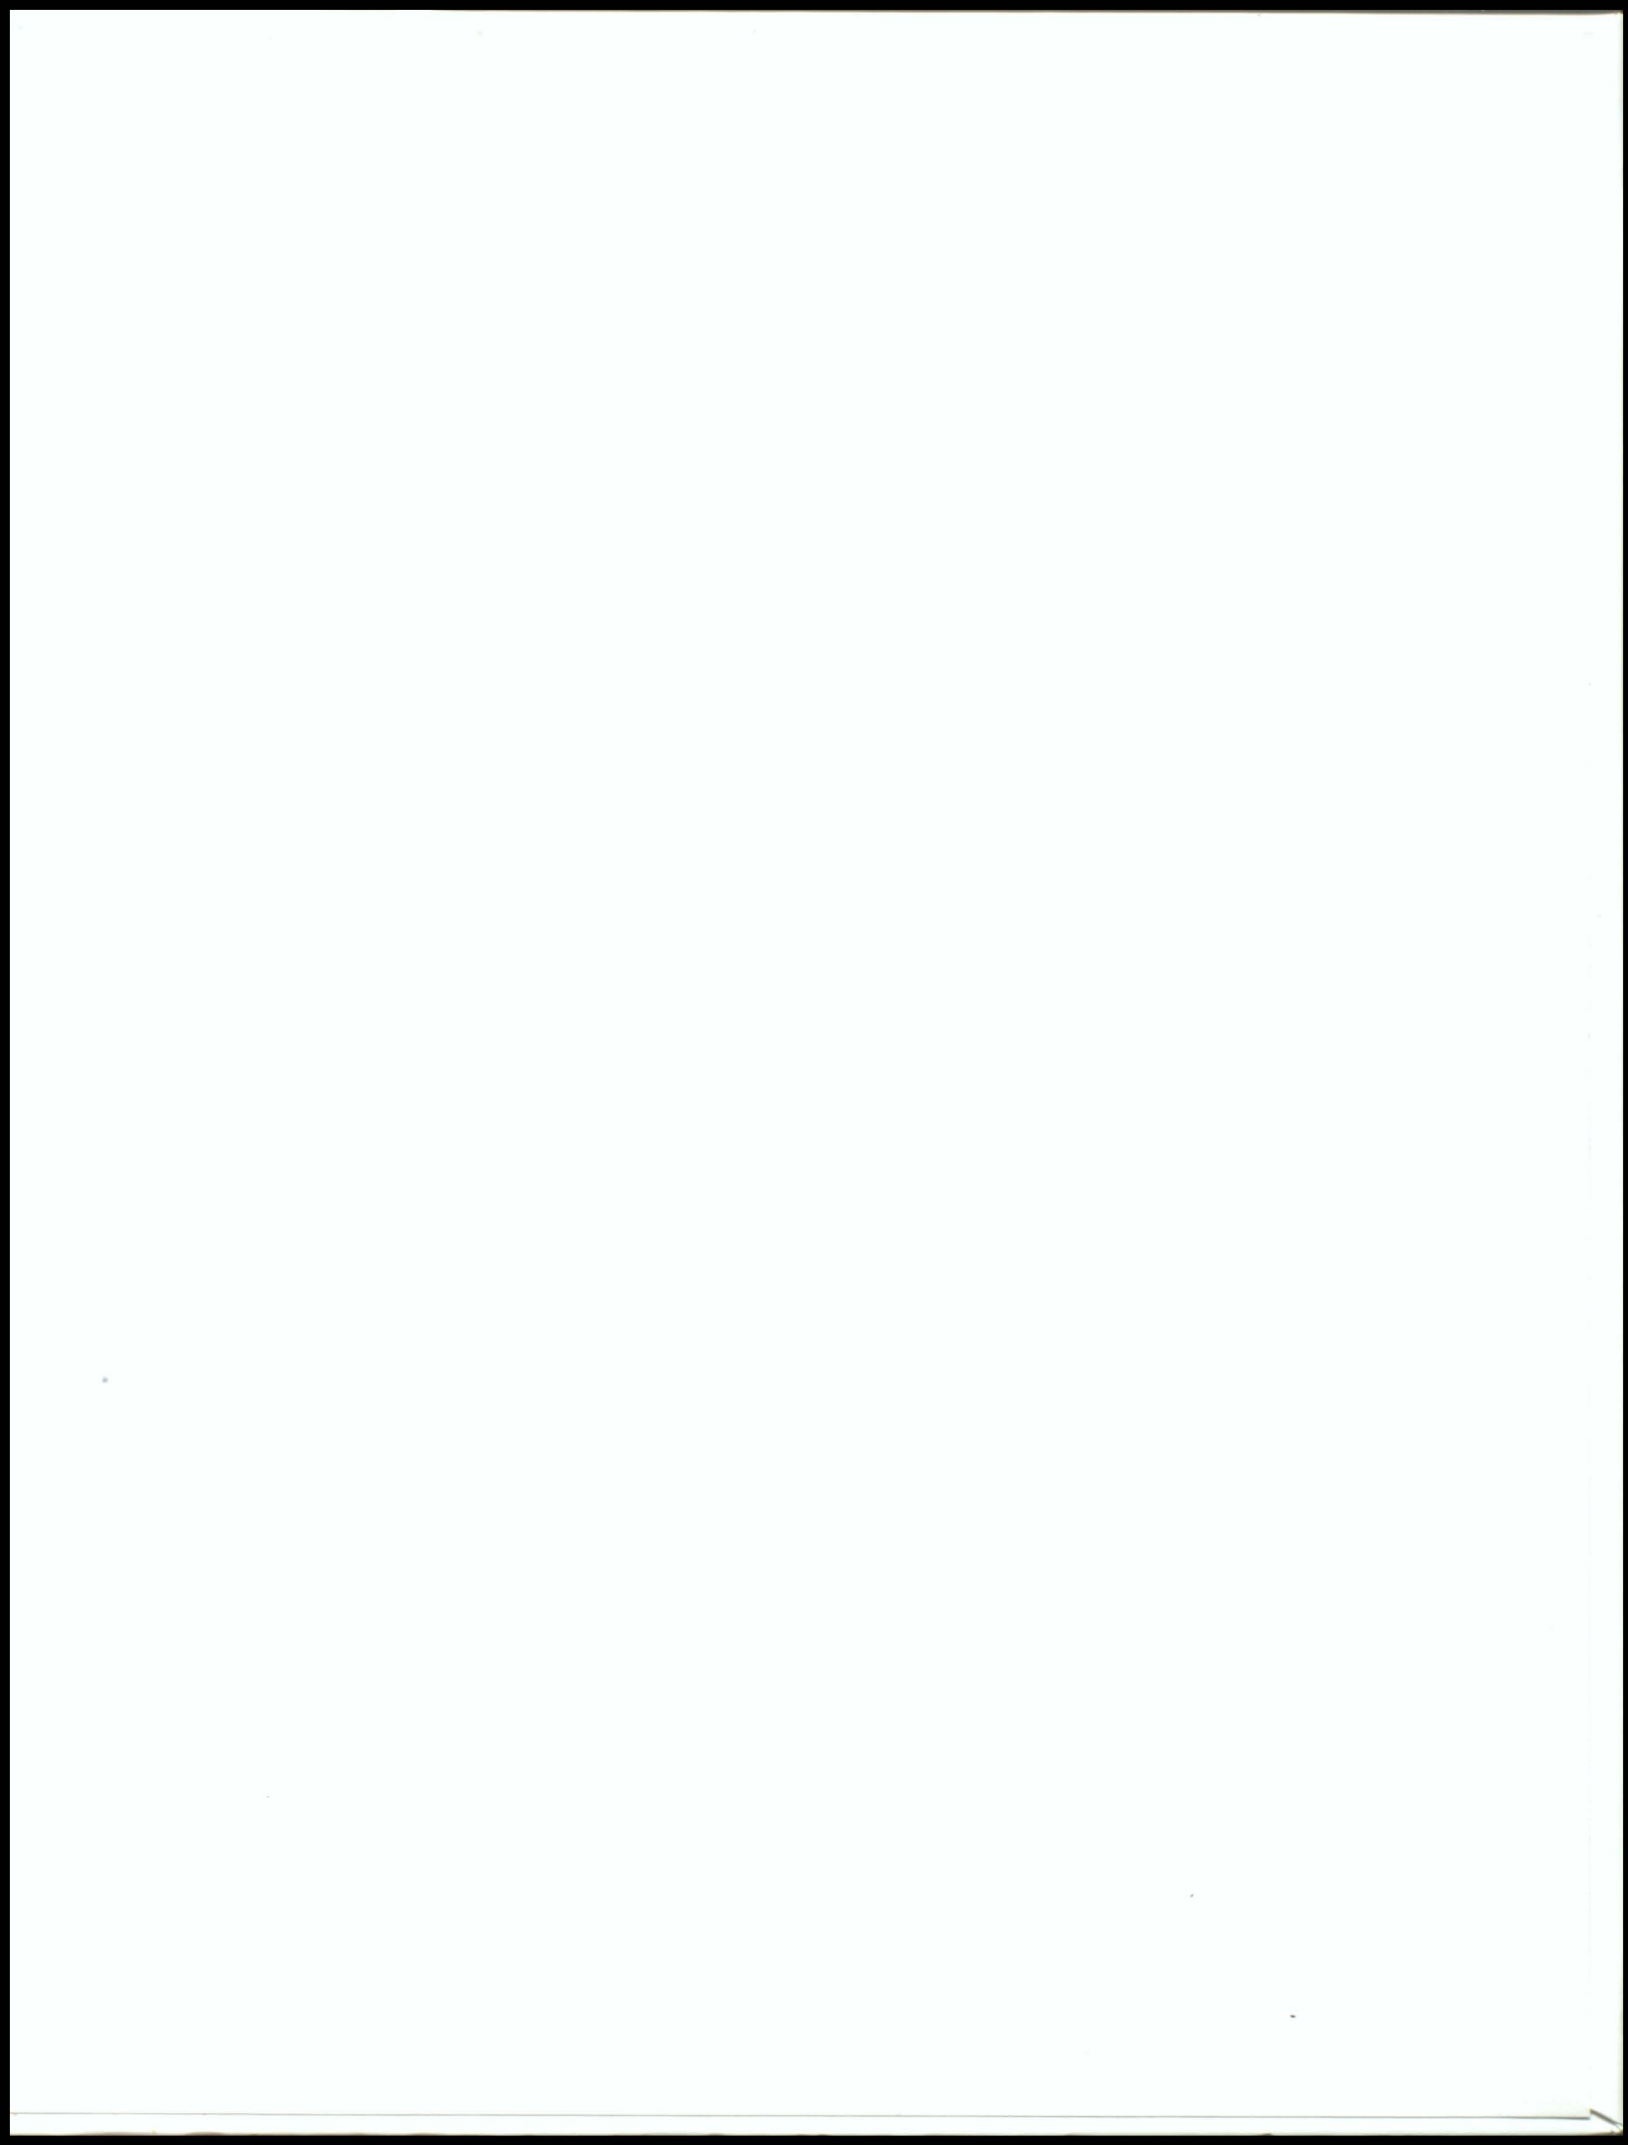

Ana Leandro is most deserving of an award for being available to work evenings and weekends as we communicated via texts!

I owe you, Ana! Pizza?

To all seniors, be strong and successful as you set-out on your next life experience!
